We have enjoyed welcoming the new children at pre-school over the last few weeks and hearing all about everyone's summer holidays - look out for the display board in the village hall! Our varied weekly timetable has resumed, promoting healthy choices wherever we can: from fresh air and exercise to choosing healthy toppings for muffin based mini pizzas. Following requests from numerous parents, we have now put our tried and tested pre-school recipes into a cookbook that will be available to buy soon - let Tania or Naomi know if you'd like a copy.

The last day of the summer term brought a visit from Ofsted. We were pleased that they recognised the strong quality of teaching and that the children benefit from highly skilled practitioners who encourage them to solve problems and develop their thinking skills. Overall we got a good grading.

Our AGM is on 20th October at 8 p.m. in the village hall and we would like to invite all parents who use the pre-school, breakfast and after school clubs; and anyone else who would like to attend. Look out for more information about what's going on and upcoming events on our website and Facebook page.

The pre-school and after school club committee are delighted to be organising this year's bring and share harvest supper on Saturday 17th October at 7.30. Look out for posters around the parish with more details or contact me on 07817175460 or catherinegwynne@doctors.org.uk to let me know if you can come and what you can bring! We look forward to another sociable and fun community evening!

Challaborough Challenge

In aid of Operation Henry (pancreatic cancer charity)

This is a marshalled walk of 5 miles and takes place on 11th October, starting and finishing at the Dolphin Inn, Kingston. For more information visit

Training School News

Last year we were supporting a school in Tavistock as part of our Training School Programme. That work has been successfully completed.

This year the governors have agreed to a request from the Local Authority to support Holbeton Primary School through a Management Partnership. This means that Jane will become the Executive Head at Holbeton for the next 12 months and will be working across all three schools (Ermington, Ugborough and Holbeton). A joint committee of governors will monitor this arrangement.

We are looking forward to this opportunity to work with another local school which has always had a close relationship with Ugborough and Ermington and are confident that the arrangement will be to everyone's benefit. Funding from the Training School Programme will continue to be used to fund staffing enhancements and staff development across the Federation.

New Website

We are pleased to announce that we now have a new Federation website at www.beaconfederation.com Do let us know if there is anything you can't find!

Our sincere thanks go to Sue Roberts who has worked tirelessly on this major project throughout the summer. Without her input and the guidance of Alex Nimmo-Smith we would not have got this off the ground. Thank you again.

Volunteers

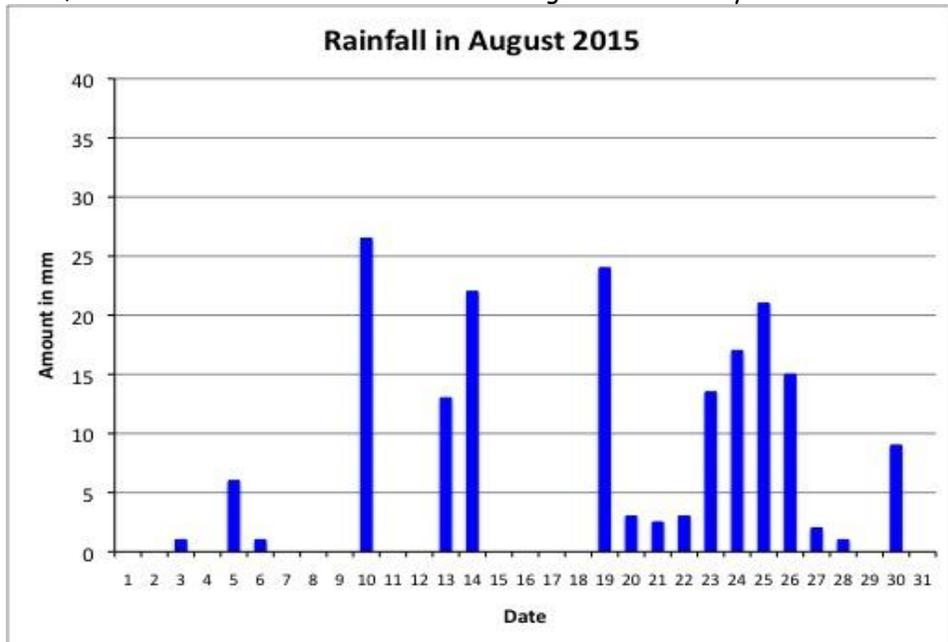

Should you have any time at all to spare, we really would be truly grateful for your help in any form. The obvious "listening to children read" and the not so obvious - gardening, filing etc would be just as welcome. Please see Beverley in the office if you can help. A DBS check and a simple application form is all that is needed.

Dates for your diary

Thursday 22 nd Oct.	Harvest- Hillhead Farm Barn at 2 p.m.

Fri day 30 th Oct	Deadline for online applications to Secondary School

Rainfall at Shellwood Hill for August 2015 George Arnison

Below is our record for rainfall at Shellwood Hill for August. Rather a wet month with 180.5mm (slightly over 7") recorded, compared to 150mm in 2014, 71.5mm in 2013, 205mm in 2012 and 115.5mm in 2011. August is definitely over-rated!

Beryl's Bookworms -Anne Holway in Sue's absence

Burial Rites by Hannah Kent The book was set in Northern Iceland in 1829. A woman, Agnes, is condemned to death for murdering her lover.

A family was forced to take her in until her execution and a priest tasked with absolving her. Many of us found the first few pages, loaded with Icelandic names and places, off putting. However, this soon became irrelevant. The main thrust of the story is based on Agnes' life both past and present. The author weaves beautiful descriptive prose around her characters giving the reader a real sense of what it was like to live in those harsh conditions. This tale, based on a real life story, becomes more and more gripping as you read on. As a debut novel, we felt Hannah Kent had written an outstanding book. Our marks out of 5 reflected this, the lowest was 4 while the majority gave it 4.5. It is unusual for us all to agree on a book's merits, perhaps the dissenters were all on holiday! * I wonder what the male perspective will be.....well that will solve Tom's holiday reading!(*I was on holiday and really enjoyed this book. I would score it 4.5- Ed.)

Your Stars Tonight. My astral contemplations are jarred by a distant rendition of "Someday my prince will come". Eventually it dies away but then strikes up again ... and again. With sinking heart I realise that the Ugborough Pantomime rehearsal season has started in earnest. A breathless steamed dieter appears and proclaims "I have started my regime of daily practices so as to be at the peak condition for our performances in February". I am briefly consoled by the thought that, just maybe, our Cinderella will equal, if not exceed, the splendour of the opening ceremony of the 2012 Olympics. Then I groan inwardly as I realise that for the next four weeks we are touring the Iberian Peninsula and I will be imprisoned in a small tin container with a febrile thespian as my sole companion. I fear for my mental wellbeing and retire to the darkened garden to seek a cosmic peace.

The summer triangle of stars of Deneb, Vega and Altair, the brightest stars in the constellations of Cygnus, Lyra and Aquila, slowly head into the south western Horizon straddling the soft light of the Milky Way. Once my eyes have adjusted I get out the binoculars and the soft mist is magnified into a sea of sparkling stars, which when viewed through the telescope become a multitude of uncountable stars. I decide to have a closer look at the area of sky in the constellation of Lyra and half way between the two bright stars at the bottom of Lyra is a hazy patch of light. I glance away and immediately the wonder of averted vision gives me a glimpse that the patch of light has a hole in the middle. Switching between direct and averted vision I at last train my eye (and brain) to see Messier Object 57 - usually referred to as the Ring nebula - and just like the first time I saw it I feel like shouting "It really is a ring" as it floats in the starry background looking for all the world like a cosmic smoke ring.

How it was made might be the basis for a pantomime script. "Once upon a time there was a Jolly Red Giant of a star who over billions of years grew bigger and bigger so it would have been easily visible from a back garden in Ugborough. But it became bloated and boastful until one day the Gravity Queen said "the time has come for you to collapse under your own weight." And sure enough it did. But as it collapsed the Gravity Queen squeezed the iron heart in the centre of the star to incredible pressure until it awoke Wicked Witch of Thermonuclear Physics who squawked "I can't take the pressure" and started a runaway nuclear reaction which made the star explode. And now all that is left of the Jolly Red Giant is a tiny White Dwarf Star, so tiny that it can't be seen, except by really large telescopes, and a smoke ring of cosmic smoke and debris fleeing from this nuclear disaster."

Ugborough Village Hall - Stafford Williams

The survey of the community regarding potential refurbishment of the Hall has been completed and the Committee are analysing the comments to discern the consensus on priorities. A summary of the key points will be published once all the ideas have been reviewed.

The summer was relatively busy for the Hall, but there was time for a few routine repairs and administrative tasks. Some of the larger jobs require fund raising, but it is hoped that there will be enough to repair the side access path and complete some paint tasks. It is hoped that the Hall will prove to be a suitable site for the proposed village defibrillator, but final plans remain to be drawn up by the Parish Council.

Sports report - Janner Motson

CUP ACTION FOR UGGIES

The Uggies hosted higher league opposition in the South West FrootLoops Premier Conference South by South East Association Trophy Vase Competition when National favourites Melchester Rovers visited last week. They boast their famous striker Roy Race, who still tops the scoring charts in his 61st season with the club despite losing a foot in a helicopter crash in 1993. Now partnered with his son Rocky, himself in his late 30s, Roy is also manager and married to Club Secretary, Penny Laine.

The Melchester team were fresh back from their tour of Mienameistan where Roy and Rocky were both kidnapped by gangsters trying to rig the betting on the match with National Champions Balin Theair, but miraculously they escaped to score the winning goal just in the nick of time.

Uggies acquitted themselves well leading 2-0 at half-time after Rocky Race was sent off for punching the mascot 'Sideshow Melchy', and they were able to kick on in the second half. Goals came from Ken Domuch and Will Batteram and the Uggies looked good at 4-0 up with only 2 minutes left to play. It was then that Roy came off the bench and when the final whistle came the Uggies had lost 5-4 following an unexpected 27 minutes of time added on.

So, the Uggies miss out on European football again this year, but they enjoyed their day in the Sun...and the Mirror...as all the National Papers ran full game reports. As for Roy, he was last seen being bundled into a black sedan by masked gunmen....all in a day's work for a football pro at Melchester Rovers.

Chance for crime victims to meet offenders

Anyone who's ever been the victim of a crime, no matter how small it is perceived to be, will know that it's not simply the immediate effects of the crime itself that are felt. The impact can last for days, months and years, and can affect people far beyond the immediate victims.

There is now an opportunity for people who have been the victims of crime to access a restorative justice process that would give the opportunity to come face to face, or, correspond, with the perpetrator, and to seek the closure they often need to be able to move on with their lives, by asking the questions that remain unanswered about the crime.

Restorative justice creates opportunities for people affected by crime, conflict, anti-social behaviour or the harmful actions of others to come together with the person responsible, and seek answers to their questions and explain the impact the incident had on them.

The process helps everyone move on. It gives those who accept responsibility for the incident an insight into the impact of their behaviour, and creates opportunities to find ways in which they can make amends.

Everyone taking part will be supported throughout the process by one of the trained independent professionals located across Devon, who will meet with the parties involved to talk about what happened and the effect it had on them, and if both parties want to meet, this will be arranged; or if not an alternative found, such as a letter exchange or recorded meetings.

If a meeting is possible, a suitable and neutral venue for this to take place will be found, and the professional will guide the meeting to ensure that everyone has the opportunity to have their say. Both parties can bring a friend, family member or advocate with them, and everyone involved will be part of the planning process.

Anyone in Devon who has been a victim of a crime, and who thinks that a restorative justice process would benefit them can contact Community Solutions on 01752 304136; e-mail RJ@plymouth.gcsx.gov.uk or use Twitter @DevonRJJustice.

Restorative justice is funded by the Police and Crime Commissioner as part of his responsibilities for victims of crime.

Ugborough Parish Council Clerk: Sarah Woodman 01364 661127
email: ugboroughpc@yahoo.co.uk Website: ugboroughparishcouncil.org

Dartmoor National Park Member Cathie Pannell introduced herself, at the start of the September Parish Council Meeting, as the new Parish representative, acting as a conduit between the Park and parishes. She can be contacted at cathie.pannell@dartmoor.gov.uk

A couple of consultations were announced at the meeting, and you may wish to get involved:

SHDC Alcohol & Entertainments Licensing policy consultation to 6.11.15 at <http://southhams.gov.uk/article/10322/Licensing-Policy-Public-Consultation>;

Devon Minerals Plan Consultation to 16.11.15 at <https://new.devon.gov.uk/haveyoursay/>

West Devon & South Hams at Devon & Somerset Fire & Rescue Service Prevention Manager Danny Slay is offering a free Home Safety Visit to vulnerable people in the community. Their Home Safety Visit takes around 30-45 minutes and as part of the visit they work with the occupier/owner to look at Fire related safety issues and, where required, fit free 10 year battery life smoke alarms. In addition, they can provide a range of other items on a risk based approach including fire retardant bedding, throws, Carbon Monoxide and hard of hearing smoke alarms. Vulnerable groups are

- Anyone over 65
- Smokers
- Anyone with children
- Households where main carer is under 18
- Anyone on benefits
- Anyone with a Dementia or Mental Health

The aim is to ensure people get the support and advice they need to reduce the risk of fires in their homes. In addition, they will soon be conducting Falls Risk Assessments alongside our Fire Safety Visits for persons over the age of 65. If you are interested in receiving this free service, please contact Danny Slay on Managerdsley@dsfire.gov.uk or call 01752 333605

The Neighbourhood Development Plan is progressing, with consultations in early 2016 and a revised completion in the spring. The local affordable housing needs survey is now available, and is being factored into the Plan. A reminder that those seeking affordable housing must register on www.devonhomechoice.com, and those seeking help to buy must use www.helptobuy.org.uk.

Planning applications Councillors supported the proposed agricultural livestock building at East Cannamore, Avonwick and the lean-to extension to the existing straw barn at the Donkey Sanctuary, Godwell Lane, Ivybridge. A neutral response was given to the resubmitted application for a single storey extension at Erme View, Donkey Lane, Ugborough.

Concern was expressed that SHDC would not be consulting Parish Councils about Prior Notification Applications, including the conversion of agricultural buildings to dwellinghouses. The Parish Council would be responding that, notwithstanding the Regulations, Parish Councils should be consulted, and Gary Streeter MP would be advised of its concerns.

Devon County Highways has produced some useful webpages: <https://new.devon.gov.uk/devonhighways/> advises you what works are being undertaken and provides a link to report problems.

Defibrillators will be provided at Ugborough Village Hall (and also in Modbury and Holbeton) thanks to a TAP application submitted by the Parish Council. The cost of the defibrillators, amounting to £5400, will be met by TAP grant funding. The deadline for the 2015/16 TAP grants is 18th December and, if you have any suggestions, please let us know.

Junk Mail Did you know that 50,000 tonnes of junk mail hits Devon's doormats EACH YEAR! DCC's Waste Team have produced leaflets to encourage the public to sign up to the Mailing Preference Service, which will remove your name from up to 95% of Direct Mail lists; and letterbox stickers to enable residents to tailor their mail. Look out for the leaflets and stickers in your library and village halls.

The next Parish Council Meeting will be on Wednesday 7th October, starting at 7.30 p.m. Agenda and minutes are displayed on the noticeboards and website.

Fair and Local- how you can support producers at home and abroad

(information from Fair and local Steering Group, Exeter Diocese)

Support our local dairy farmers by choosing milk products such as yoghurts, cream and cheese with the Union Jack or Red Tractor logos as this indicates that the milk is from British dairy farms.

Buy and use Fairtrade products- look for the Fairtrade mark or support Traidcraft. According to the Fairtrade Foundation, sales of Fairtrade goods have fallen for the first time in 20 years by more than 4%.

Give consideration to where you do your shopping. Are there local farmshops we could support? Our switch to shopping in chains such as Aldi and Lidl, which stock fewer Fairtrade goods, is having an impact. Thousands of producers and artisans in vulnerable communities in more than 30 developing countries rely on trade through Traidcraft.

(And- Support Ugborough Sustainable Saturdays- this month on 3rd, 17th and 31st October.)

And- Ivybridge Country Market- Alison Burgess (Secretary) via Kay Hart

The Ivybridge Country Market has been running successfully for 30 years. It's open every Friday morning in the Scout Hut, Leonards Road, near the Leisure Centre. The opening times are 9.30 a.m. to 11.30 a.m.

Come along on a Friday morning and have a look at the market.

Totnes and District Open Eco-Homes October 3rd - 4th and Eco-Homes Fair, Saturday 10th October

For the last seven years Transition Town Totnes has organised an Open Eco Homes weekend. From the traditional to the unconventional, you are invited to visit inspiring homes in Totnes and the surrounding area which are at different stages on the journey to reducing their energy bills and environmental impact. These measures can vary from secondary glazing, draught busting, solar PV and solar hot water, to pellet boilers or building from the ground up with thermally efficient materials and state of the art Passivhaus technology. This is then followed a week or so afterwards by an Eco-Homes Fair featuring suppliers of eco-friendly goods and services, plus home energy installers and eco-builders.

Come along and find out how to make your own home cheaper to run and cosier to live in. Contact Mary Popham for more info by emailing marypopham@btinternet.com or calling 07815 799996, or keep an eye on the TTT website - www.transitiontowntotnes.org.

St. Peter's Church, Ugborough

Harberton Vicarage
September 2015

Dear Friends,

We are now standing on the threshold of a new phase in our Church community life as we await the imminent arrival of David and Heather. In fact, by the time you read this they should have taken up residence in the Rectory and be familiarising themselves with the passing places in our lanes.

I did wonder if our profile should have included a passage to the effect, "Are you ready to enjoy the beauty of our hedgerows throughout the spring; do you feel competent to do emergency stops when hares or badgers or foxes jump into the lane right in front of your car; are you patient enough to wait for herds of cows or flocks of sheep to be moved around the villages; can you reverse for considerable distances? If so, you are the person we are looking for in the Three Rivers MC".

Seriously, though, we have been looking for someone who can lead us through the next phase of our corporate existence, when we shall face many challenges spiritually, liturgically, administratively and financially. We are living through times when any religion can be sneered at, considered at best irrelevant or eccentric, at worst a destructive and divisive force. It is often hard to admit to being a Christian, to practising our faith and to finding relevance and meaning in the Gospel.

But it is also a time when we need to hold firm, not to be found wanting as faithful disciples of the One who went to the cross rather than deny the integrity of a godly life. Challenges are good for us - they make us question what is important and what has perhaps outlived its usefulness, and then work to uphold all that is good and true and beautiful. Christianity has much to say about generosity, compassion, truth, self-sacrifice and forgiveness - all virtues so needed in our world. See how we can apply them to the situations unravelling before our eyes in so many areas, to the instability of the Middle East, to the wars and terror prevalent all around, to the desperation of refugees and migrants.

To understand their plight, imagine that it is your son and daughter-in-law and grandchildren that have left everything to try and reach a safe haven. Would you not be grateful for any act of kindness shown to them?

Then ask - what can we as individuals, as the Christian body, as our nation do to help? Top of the list comes prayer - which can help to release and generate practical aid.

Surely every single one of us can spend a few minutes each day holding such people in a loving embrace before God; who knows what could be the positive outcome then?

Pray also for David and Heather as they settle among us, become our friends and lead us on the next stage of our journey through the world to our heavenly home.

Thank you all for what you have done to keep the Good Ship The Three Rivers Mission Community alive and flourishing during the last year. That clutch of bunches of keys can now move off my desk.....

With love and prayers,
Caroline
